The 2010 Koleos range

Renault has upgraded and streamlined the structure of its Koleos range. From April 2010, the brand's 4x4 crossover will be available in a choice of two equipment levels: Carminat and Exception. All versions of Koleos will come with an enhanced equipment specification, as well as even more dynamic styling. Order books are already open across the network.

Renault's 2010 Koleos range benefits from a long list of additional equipment and a number of exterior accessories that emphasize its 4x4 crossover looks. The new line-up is founded on a choice of two equipment levels.

The Carminat equipment level is based on the Expression equipment level it replaces, plus the following additional features:

- integrated Carminat TomTom navigation,
- hands-free starting,
- electronic parking brake,
- electrically folding exterior mirrors,
- automatic climate control,
- rear parking proximity sensors,
- 'aluminium'-finish front and rear skid plates,
- rear lip spoiler,
- dark charcoal interior trim with chrome details from the Dynamique equipment level.

The Exception equipment level replaces the existing Privilège equipment level, and comes with the following additional equipment:

- 'aluminium'-finish front and rear skid plates,
- 18-inch wheels,
- extra-tinted rear glass (film),
- integrated Carminat TomTom navigation,
- electrically adjustable driver's seat.

* bi-Xenon headlamps now available as an option.

The new 2010 Koleos range features a selection of seven body colours, including six metallic finishes: Glacier White (non-metallic), Lave Grey, Argent Grey, Minéral Beige, Acier Blue, Perlé White and Metallic Black.

The new 2010 Koleos range goes on sale in April, but order books are already open across the Renault network.
